Hi Ella. The "community" establishes the community advisory group. EPA's role is that of support, administrative or other types of support. For Diamond Alkali, EPA offered to look into getting a group facilitator and paying for it. It is up to potential CAG members to decide how to use such a facilitator, but one way is to have the facilitator help the members form the group, decide membership and ground rules, etc. and then help run the group meetings, set the agenda, etc. I would presume that PRC would be a member of such a group, as TAG recipient and historical involvement in all things Passaic.....

David:

At the PDT meeting you mentioned that you were either going to establish a Community Advisory Group or you were considering it. Please let me know your thinking on this matter, and how we might be able to integrate it with the TAG grant. If it doesn't fit, then the Passaic River Coalition would certainly like to be a part of this activity.

Thanks.

Ella
